

any except those who were satisfied of his real character.

To Mr. Griffin is due the thanks of the entire community for that he was able to bring and report. There was nothing of the hear-say kind about the evidence. It was direct and damning, three witnesses making formal report to Chief of Police Warner in demanding the arrest of a so-called minister guilty of abnormal practices. It was evident that Snyder was worried about the reports spread by his class, or members of it who were not afraid to speak. He was not, however, constantly denouncing those who had suspected him and cursing them without regard to his alleged position and without regard to the age of his room-mate.

He made an appointment for 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and invited the class to return last night, though something was said about a trip to Petersburg, the exact nature of which could not be ascertained. He announced, however, that he would remain here until Monday.

Slipped Away From Town.

While Chief Warner and Detective McMahon were in conference yesterday afternoon, Snyder was changing his plans and making arrangements to leave the city somewhat unexpectedly. At noon it was learned that the preacher had slipped away from town. He had paid his bill, bought a ticket to Norfolk, and had his trunk checked to that point. He left the hotel a few minutes before 11 with two boys.

Detective McMahon went back to admit last night that the preacher had fooled him, for when he reached the Chesapeake and Ohio station a few minutes after 3 o'clock train left, the gatekeeper was certain that man was Snyder. The detective then went back through the rail with a ticket to Charlottesville. Detective McMahon and his volunteer assistants then went to the Norfolk and Western station, but no preacher was there to board the 3 o'clock train. The other officer went back to the Chesapeake and Ohio, Chief Warner in the meanwhile sending telegrams to Gordonsville and Charlottesville on the assumption that the man recognized by the gatekeeper was Snyder. When Snyder's headquarters were informed that the man wanted had gone to Petersburg during the morning with three boys—Blanton Umlauf, John Hanson and Valentine Lee.

Telephone messages to Petersburg brought back the information that he had left for Norfolk. Other messages being immediately sent to Norfolk to make the arrest upon the arrival of the Norfolk and Western train.

Father Hears News.

The one distressing feature of the day's work was the story which had to be related to Mr. Lee. He had suspected nothing. He only knew that his boy had met Snyder, that the latter had been apparently kind to him, taking him on many trips, and that, so far as he knew, he was sound. When he learned the truth his first impulse was to rush over to Petersburg and take the matter into his own hands. Before he could leave, however, it became known that Snyder had left for Norfolk. Mr. Lee's next move being to find his son and bring him back to Richmond.

"I had no idea that Snyder was an impostor," said Mr. Lee. "He appeared to be devout. He conducted services in one of the Episcopal churches last Sunday, claiming to be an Episcopal minister."

"Because of his kindness to my boy I had him at my house, taking it for granted, of course, that a minister was a proper person to associate with young boys."

Snyder, who hails from Norwood, O., and who carries a scrap book containing many columns of newspaper notices, is not an Episcopal minister, his name, at least, not appearing in the directory issued by that church.

According to one of his "boys" who accompanied the reverend gentleman to a cafe the other day, he sat there while Snyder took a drink. Other young men have seen him, and he was supplied with cigarettes, along with the soda water, although these luxuries were provided only for those who were his particular friends.

Newton, who is older than Valentine Lee, has known Snyder since the start, though he did not care to express his opinions to his father. "He was a faker, I knew that," said Lee, last night, as he started to Petersburg to find his brother. He carried on with the boy in a disgraceful way for a preacher, saying many ugly things, and giving them cigarettes. I tried hard to keep Valentine away, but had no influence with him."

Took Boys on Excursion.

Snyder was one of the popular favorites on the Young Men's Christian Association moonlight excursion down the river Thursday night, for he had invited a number of youngsters to go along with him. Those who accompanied him were Blanton Umlauf, Bernard Martin, Wilson Mollis, John Hanson, Burk Young, Spencer Tipman, Robert and Marion Allen, George Ganthie, Hunter Hughes, Valentine Lee, Horace Powell and J. P. Lee, Jr. Many of the boys were from the city, and they were taken to the city shortly before 9 o'clock last night. They reported that Snyder went to Norfolk on the Norfolk and Western "Common Ball," which left Richmond at 3 o'clock, though by the time the train reached Norfolk, Snyder had been made by the Norfolk police department. Mr. Lee had been extremely alarmed by his son's absence, and was preparing to leave for Petersburg when he met the boys at Manchester.

Snyder's Record at Home.

The Times-Dispatch received the following last night from Cincinnati: "Rev. Leonard W. Snyder, who is known in Norwood as the 'Boys' Minister,' made his home with Lewis Hoffmire on Elm Avenue, in that city. He lived in elegantly furnished apartments at the Hoffman residence, and is believed to be a man of some wealth. The walls of the different rooms are covered with the photographs of boys, and a huge scrapbook that was found showing cards contained letters from youths in almost every State in the Union. He did not claim to be a minister of the gospel within the meaning of those words as known to Methodists, Presbyterians and Baptists."

"Holding views regarding the liquor traffic that were not in accord with those of Protestant denominations, he claimed to be a liberal of liberals, and always asserted his right to entertain and drink with those he found in them. Rev. Snyder has been away from Norwood a good part of each year for the past ten years. He rarely conducted services in the churches of his home city. He said that his work among boys was supported by the wealthiest men in the United States, but when his friends asked him to name the contributors, he would refuse."

CORN EXPLODES: GIRL BURNED

Miss Day in Serious Condition, Due to Accident While Canning.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

HATFIELD, CONN., September 5.—As the result of an explosion of corn in the social set of this city and the sister of General Albert O. Day, president of the Riverside Trust Company, is in a serious condition.

Miss Day was assisting in canning corn and started to open a can to put in some more corn and fill it to the top. As soon as the hot gases from the can ignited with the oxygen in the air a terrific explosion followed. The flame severely burned Miss Day about the face and neck. One eye will probably be blind, but it is hoped that the sight of the other may be saved.

A Simple Test Which Any Reader of This Paper, May Try.

Do you know whether you are inclined to, or have kidney trouble? Have you ever tried the simple test of setting aside your urine in a bottle of water? A sediment in the urine indicates a diseased condition. Science has to-day furnished proofs that all the purifying that your blood needs; in fact, all that can be done, must be done by your kidneys. They are the most important organs, because they filter and purify the blood. The kidneys strain or filter out the impurities in the blood—that is their work. When you blood is impure, nothing can purify it but your kidneys. To overcome these troubles, take Dr. Kiltner's Swamp-Root, the world-famous kidney remedy. In taking Swamp-Root your afford natural help to nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that has yet been discovered. If you need more information, write Dr. Kiltner & Co., Binghamton, N.Y., for a sample bottle, they will send it free by mail—it will convince any one. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidneys.
